Abstract of the Disclosure:

In a household device a display unit includes a display device, which has a layer of material that can be influenced electrically pixel by pixel, i.e., picture element by picture element, so that any displays that are connected to the household appliance, can be seen on the display device.

GLM/nt

5